TIBBLES ON CRANKS.

Grow as Thick as Hops In New York," Says Populist Candidate. There are more emply than sine prople in the city of New York, according ing to T. H. Tibbles, vice presidential candidate on the Populat ticket, says a special disputch from Lincoln, Neb.

Zir. Tibbles had recently returned from ply to Smith Bros., 367 No. Main street. 1981 New York, where he was noticed of his nomination. "Cranks grow as thick as hops in New York," he says. "They forced themselves into my rooms and outlined hundreds of schemes whereby they wanted to raise millions of dollars to help Populism. They followed me over the city and waylaid me at every turn. One stylishly dressed woman insisted on organizing 1,000,000 women's clubs and wanted me to promise to address 1,500.00 every one of them. She followed me 6.00 for three days,

"I had applications by the scores for cabinet positions, and any number of statesmen out of jobs wanted to be secretary of state. Quite a few wanted to be 'secretary of rallroads' as soon as the Populist candidates are elected and the government takes control of the rallroads. On all sides I was attacked and assaulted by crinks, and I tell you it took hard work to get away from them somet mes,"
